WHAT YOU NEED

Calder Valley Radio knows that one of the biggest things people crave is connection. Experiences that connect us are the ones that linger. They get talked about, they get shared throughout the community and they unite people. We think they're the best way to bring people together.

We want to help you create and execute an unforgettable time, ensuring that at every stage your guests feel delighted, engaged or even surprised. We want your event to be one they'll talk about for the longest time and we'll use every trick in our creative roster to help you achieve this. Calder Valley Radio is part of the wider cultural conversation in the Calder Valley as a whole and we want to help you be part of that conversation too.

Corporate Events

If you're a brand, creating real-life connections to your audience through events is one of the most effective ways to engage them, to make them care about who you are and why you do what you do. Whatever size and scope of event you have in mind- that's where we come in. For companies, shareable brand experiences are also made easier as we have the platform to make sure your brand message is listened to on-air and online, ensuring the community get to hear about you. Any ticketed corporate events like galas are advertised on our prime-time shows and given space on our website.

Private Events

If you're an individual, you might already know how you want to celebrate your occasion, but also want to create something completely unique and personal, which is exactly what we specialise in. We work across a diverse range of personal events from private children's parties to large-scale senior events and everything in-between (we've even worked with dogs with 'Hebden Happy Hounds', so the old showbiz rules of 'no animals, no children' clearly don't apply to us!) We like to think if you can imagine it, we can help you create it. Everything we do is tailored specifically with your audience in mind, so get as creative as you want to.

We believe no event is too small for the attention to detail not to be perfect, no engagement too large to not give the personal touch. We'll help connect you to your people, whoever they are and whatever your aims are.

WHO WE ARE

We harbour some of the most talented thinkers, marketers, compères, producers and techies in the Valley. Our dedicated team is trained in events management and nothing phases us (we promise...)

The events section of Calder Valley Radio was created from the idea that our station reaches the heart of the community through our meticulously planned shows and advertising sales department. So, if we could deliver that experience through the air, why couldn't we deliver it in person? Having been asked to organise and manage several large PA events in the Valley we found that our attention to detail, flair for aesthetics and sense of humour were the fundamentals of providing a great experience that people would remember.

Calder Valley Radio Events seemed like the next organic step in our journey. Now with a dedicated team focussed on delivering exactly what our clients want, we work on a range of bespoke events, each one making sure that the experience stays with each attendee long after they leave the room.

We create content, imagine, reimagine, organise and refine so whatever you picture for your shareable corporate or private experience, we can help you deliver. On the day we don't just set up and leave- we're there every step of the way to assemble, stage-manage, and smooth things over for the entire event. We'll always find the spare leads, the right flowers, or the missing candles you need to get things just right. Every event comes with experienced compères as required, from our locally beloved roster of radio personalities - some of which are stage and screen personalities you might just recognise!

WE KNOW WE CAN HELP YOUR EVENT RUN
PRECISELY THE WAY YOU WANT. ON TIME. ON BUDGET AND ON BRAND.
